Digital Equity	Access

- Context: Digital access and literacy are now prerequisites for engaging in many aspects of society and the economy. As such, Council adopted Digital Equity as a goal and established a program within the Information Technology Department (ITD) in 2016.
- Actions:
  - From 2016 to 2018, ITD performed research on community needs via survey and focus group.
  - In 2018, in collaboration with GPFC and the Mayor, we arrived at a shared definition and strategy for addressing Digital Equity.
  - The adopted priority for ITD is to improve internet access (connection) for individuals via education, policy, and advocacy.

- Insight:

  A clearly documented strategy, in support of broader community goals, allows timely and effective action as needs and opportunities arise.

  It is time to reconfirm or refresh this strategy. We are ready to join the Council in a deeper conversation whenever appropriate as you set new priorities.

Workforce Reflects the Community

- ITD has a different pattern of employee diversity than the broader City, but we still do not represent our community as desired.
- ITD is an active partner with HR as we develop and implement new tools and practices throughout the recruitment and retention cycle.

8

Purposeful Outreach and Engagement

- Equity Index tool was expanded and enhanced
  - Larger service area for utilities
  - Time series data for historical comparison
  - Ease of integration with other data sets

- Improved virtual and hybrid meeting tools
  - In partnership with MCO, we've implemented platforms and processes that have increased public access and participation in public meetings and forums

9

Equitable Service Delivery

- ITD has a robust process for selecting and implementing new technology or processes in partnership with City departments.

- In 2021, we explicitly added Equity Impact as a characteristic to be tracked and weighed in decision making.

- As a result, just over 10% of IT investments during the year had an explicit benefit impact.
