6. Inclement Weather Update at 6:42

- Presented by Caleb Carbone, Systems and Service Manager, Homeless Strategy.
 - i. Backshot of last year's methodology to heat stress and poor air quality response.
 1. Response is determined according to tiers by temperature and smog index, though, threshold is flexible; considering actual perception to the human body of the heat or air quality over strict adherence to rubric.
 - a. Responses include cooling center, nighttime relief, and day centers with HVAC.
 - b. Comparisons of City's response to other cities is conducted to check for effectiveness. As of now, the heat index tool is in alignment with the needed response.
 2. Commissioner Ladenburg asks if the response is for sheltered and/or unsheltered populations.
 - a. Answer: Both.
 3. Commissioner Ladenburg asks how locations for cooling centers are chosen.
 - a. Answer: Depends on locations interested in providing spaces. Examples of current partnerships, such as Tacoma libraries and RISE are provided.
 4. Chair Wilson asks if there is a rubric for which populations are contacted first.
 - a. Answer: Outreach occurs in terms of zones.
 5. Chair Wilson expresses concern for less dense populations.
 - a. Explanation: Outreach and volunteers are used to reach sparse populations, with knowledge in mind that not everyone is ready to be a part of the shelter system.
 6. Chair Wilson inquires about pet policies for shelters and cooling centers.
 - a. Answer: pet allowance varies per organization due to different insurance coverages, though emergency shelters do permit dogs and there exist alternatives such as the Humane Society and temporary fostering.
 7. Secretary Walton expresses gratitude for the data presented and desire to share information with more community members.
 - a. Caleb Carbone and Chair Wilson respond that The City is willing to present data in shared spaces, upon request, and encourage such.
