

The City of Tacoma is in the bull’s eye for oil, gas and coal companies looking to export their dangerous and dirty products. The Trump administration is forcing a choice on Tacoma right now; they are opening up oil, gas and coal opportunities and the fossil fuel industry is responding, already coming out with plans to expand fossil fuel exports. Communities like Bellingham, Vancouver and Seattle have said no to a dirty past and yes to a sustainable, prosperous future. The people of Tacoma are calling on our local elected officials to rewrite our story from a dirty, polluted dumping ground to a clean, sustainable port city filled with innovation and family supporting jobs. One where people want to live, raise their family, recreate and be proud of the city.

We call on the City of Tacoma to prohibit new fossil fuel exports now and turn our City of Destiny towards clean industry, manufacturing and moving valuable cargo that supports high wage jobs over the long term.

The City of Tacoma is in the bull's eye for oil, gas and coal companies looking to export their dangerous and dirty products. The Trump administration is forcing a choice on Tacoma right now; they are opening up oil, gas and coal opportunities and the fossil fuel industry is responding, already coming out with plans to expand fossil fuel exports. Communities like Bellingham, Vancouver and Seattle have said no to a dirty past and yes to a sustainable, prosperous future. The people of Tacoma are calling on our local elected officials move towards a clean, sustainable port city filled with innovation and family supporting jobs. One where people want to live, raise their family, recreate and be proud of the city.

GREEN DRINKS AUG 3 2017

We call on the City of Tacoma to prohibit new fossil fuel exports now and turn our City of Destiny towards clean industry, manufacturing and moving valuable cargo that supports high wage jobs over the long term.

Tacoma is in the bull's eye for oil, gas and coal companies looking to export their dangerous and dirty products. The Trump administration is responding, already coming out with plans to expand fossil fuel exports. The people of Tacoma are calling for action. We want to live, raise their children, go to work, and have a future. Communities like Bellingham, Vancouver and Seattle have said no to a dirty past and yes to a sustainable, prosperous future. The people of Tacoma want our local elected officials move towards a clean, sustainable port city filled with innovation and family supporting jobs. One where people work, play, family, recreate and be proud of the city.

We call on the City of Tacoma to prohibit new fossil fuel exports now and turn our City of Destiny towards clean industry, manufacturing and moving towards a sustainable future that supports high wage jobs over the long term.

The City of Tacoma is in the bull's eye for oil, gas and coal companies looking to export their dangerous and dirty products. The Trump administration is forcing a choice on Tacoma right now; they are opening up oil, gas and coal opportunities and the fossil fuel industry is responding, already coming out with plans to expand fossil fuel exports. Communities like Bellingham, Vancouver and Seattle have said no to a dirty past and yes to a sustainable, prosperous future. The people of Tacoma are calling on our local elected officials move towards a clean, sustainable port city filled with innovation and family supporting jobs. One where people want to live, raise their family, recreate and be proud of the city.

We call on the City of Tacoma to prohibit new fossil fuel exports now and turn our City of Destiny towards clean industry, manufacturing and moving valuable cargo that supports high wage jobs over the long term.

We call on the City of Tacoma to prohibit new fossil fuel exports now and turn our City of Destiny towards clean industry, manufacturing and moving valuable cargo that supports high wage jobs over the long term.

The City of Tacoma is in the bull's eye for oil, gas and coal companies looking to export their dangerous and dirty products. The Trump administration is forcing a choice on Tacoma right now; they are opening up oil, gas and coal opportunities and the fossil fuel industry is responding, already coming out with plans to expand fossil fuel exports. Communities like Bellingham, Vancouver and Seattle have said no to a dirty past and yes to a sustainable, prosperous future. The people of Tacoma are calling on our local elected officials move towards a clean, sustainable port city filled with innovation and family supporting jobs. One where people want to live, raise their family, recreate and be proud of the city.

We call on the City of Tacoma to prohibit new fossil fuel exports now and turn our City of Destiny towards clean industry, manufacturing and moving valuable cargo that supports high wage jobs over the long term.
