DIRECTOR'S REPORT

Main Library Project Update

- Interviewing design firms, hope to be under contract by the end of June
- Pre-design (or "spatial relationship") phase produced general cost estimates and engineering studies
- Design phase will produce as-built and construction documents & identify FFE (furniture, fixtures, and equipment); selected designer/architectural firm will manage construction
- Construction is estimated to conclude at the end of 2023

Main Library Project Facts

WHAT WE ARE DOING

- TPL is transforming the second floor of the library into an operational and programming space for nonprofit partners such as the Tacoma Tool Library.
- Upgrades are being made primarily to the "modern addition" of the library; the Olympic and other meeting rooms, as well as the Handforth gallery in the original 1903 Carnegie Library, will also be refreshed.

WHY WE ARE DOING IT

- The goal of this project is to make the library a more efficient, safe, and welcoming environment.
- The "modern addition" has not been improved in more than 30 years and is not equipped for today's needs.
- With 95,000 square feet, there is so much potential for this facility to serve the community in myriad ways. One example is transforming the library's second floor into an operational and programming space for nonprofit partners such as the Tacoma Tool Library.

HOW LONG WILL THE MAIN LIBRARY PROJECT TAKE

- As of now, our best estimate is that construction will be complete in late 2023 and Main Library will reopen completely in 2024
- It is possible the construction could be done in phases; the architectural firm will help determine if that is practical, and that determination could be made by the end of 2022

WHY ARE WE COMPLETING THE MAIN PROJECT NOW

- In 2020, the City of Tacoma and Tacoma Public Library were hit with a budget shortfall due to the pandemic.

- In navigating this challenge, the constraints of operations spurred creative and imaginative problem solving in how to better utilize the space, resources, and the number of staff of Main Library to benefit the entire library system.
- Eventually, most Main staff were deployed to neighborhood branches in order to bolster operations across the system.
