SUBJECT: Building/Development Code and Community Engagement Enhancement Update
DATE: August 26, 2020

Please see the information below regarding the status of the Planning and Development Services (PDS) Building/Development Code and Community Engagement Project status.

This project was established by Resolution No. 40443 due to the City experiencing rapid growth and development. Neighborhoods expressed related concerns regarding health and safety and requested more engagement from the City before and during construction projects.

PDS is strategically advancing this project by using a three-phased approach. The first phase was quick enhancements, including a new project sign for some development, and expanded SEPA notices and meetings.

The second phase is proposed to be legislative changes that provide PDS with additional administrative authority to address notification to residents, meeting requirements, enforcement mechanisms, air quality standards, and other recommended items. We believe with this additional authority we could more immediately develop relevant construction standards and policy using an equity lens that recognizes all construction impacts are not universal and residential neighborhoods may need enhanced construction criteria.

The third phase and final phase is intended to result in specific budgetary proposals directly related to the PDS commitment to help with positive community engagement while providing additional enforcement capacity.

PDS is anticipating presenting the phase two proposed legislative changes at the Infrastructure Planning and Sustainability meeting on October 14, 2020.

Please contact Corey Newton, Site and Building Division Manager, at 253-651-0278 or cnewton@cityoftacoma.org with questions.

Freighthouse Square business outreach:

The Sound Transit team continues to have ongoing conversations with Freighthouse Square (FHS) business owners, tenants, and the building owner. We consider the meetings with the owner and the tenants as important yet distinct outreach efforts. Sound Transit met with the owner of Freighthouse Square, Brian Borgelt on 11/6 and 12/18. The 11/6 meeting was focused on introducing the Close to Sounder alternative and its potential impacts, while the 12/18 meeting was focused on listening to Brian’s concerns with past Sound Transit construction projects.

The outreach team conducted field visits to FHS business on 11/8/19 and again on 11/22/19. The 11/8 meeting was focused on introducing the TDLE project, providing an overview of the timeline/process, and encouraging folks to participate in our November 2019 outreach period by attending Sound Transit hosted drop-ins. The 11/22 field visits were specific to discussing the Close to Sounder alternative. The outreach team is planning on contacting them over the next month (primarily via phone) to connect and update them on project planning. We will resume in person visits as soon as agency safety protocols allow. As a reminder no acquisition decisions are made until after the Sound Transit Board selects the project to be built which will be after the Final EIS is issued. Below is a list of businesses we conducted in-person visits to last year. Ongoing and open dialogue with FHS businesses is a top priority for Sound Transit moving forward.

Businesses contacted in FHS so far:

Tail Track visuals:

As discussed at study session, it is confirmed that the tail tracks at Tacoma Dome Station will not cross East D Street at either of the 25th street or the Close to Sounder alternatives. The 26th Street station alternative station is located over the intersection of East 26th Street and East D Street, and the tail tracks extend further to the west. As a reminder, tail tracks are about 500 feet of elevated track that will extend west of the Tacoma Dome light rail station to provide sufficient space for storing two 4-car trains. They are necessary for our ongoing light rail operations for storage of out-of-service trains without interfering with revenue operations, or to stage trains at the beginning of service. Sound Transit requires tail tracks at all stations which will serve an end-of-line function even if on an interim basis. The tail tracks pictured below are at Angle Lake Station in Seatac. Of note, the tail tracks at Tacoma Dome could have a different column and guideway design features and the condition under the tracks could be different, but this should give a better sense of what they look like.
