SUBJECT: Proposed changes to the Tacoma Municipal Code relating to Electroshock Devices
DATE: May 24, 2017

SUMMARY:

Tacoma Municipal Code ("TMC") 8.66.080.A.1 prohibits selling, manufacturing, purchasing, possessing or carrying of an electroshock device in the City of Tacoma. Any person engaging in this conduct is guilty of a gross misdemeanor offense punishable by up to 364 days in jail and/or a $5,000 fine. The proposed amendments herein would decriminalize these activities as they relate to electroshock devices. However, the use of such a device with unlawful force against another, or in such a way as to harass, intimidate or threaten another would still constitute criminal conduct under the existing relevant municipal and state laws. The proposed amendments recommend removing electroshock devices from the list of generally prohibited items in the City of Tacoma to reflect an appropriate balance between citizens' constitutional rights, relevant persuasive and binding case law, and the City's important interest in public safety.

STRATEGIC POLICY PRIORITY:

- Strengthen and support a safe city with healthy residents.
- Encourage and promote an efficient and effective government, which is fiscally sustainable and guided by engaged residents.

BACKGROUND:

The City of Tacoma currently is among a handful of jurisdictions in the nation that regulate the possession of an electroshock device. Such device is often colloquially referred to as a TASER.¹ Possessing such a device for the purposes of self-defense is likely a constitutionally protected activity. While there is yet no binding case precedent or law currently in effect that prohibits Tacoma from criminalizing possession of such devices, a careful review of the relevant federal and state constitutional provisions and case law indicates a proactive approach to modernizing the code is warranted to ensure the City's ordinances are on strong constitutional footing and less subject to challenge.

Currently it is a gross misdemeanor offense to sell, manufacture, purchase, possess, or carry any electroshock device in Tacoma.² An electroshock device is defined, in relevant part, as: "any electric or other conductive energy device such as a TASER, stun gun, or other device designed to deliver an electronic charge, which apparently is capable of producing bodily harm or incapacitation to any degree, whether directly from the device or through a missile or projectile.”³ The only recognized exceptions to this prohibition are for law enforcement personnel, corrections officers, animal control officers, and military personnel, while in the performance of official duties.⁴ There are no other statutory exceptions. Importantly, there is no exception for the possession of such device in one’s home, business, or for the purposes of self-defense.

At the state level, there is no general prohibition regarding possessing or carrying an electroshock device. Instead, state law prohibits the possession in certain sensitive locations such as public or private elementary or secondary schools or courthouses. While not illegal to possess an electroshock device under state law, it is a crime to furtively carry with the intent to conceal a dangerous weapon.⁵ Additionally, it is a crime to “carry, exhibit, display, or draw ... any other weapon apparently capable of producing bodily harm, in a manner, under circumstances, and at a time and place that either manifests an intent to intimidate another or that warrants alarm for the safety of other persons.”⁶ However, even this prohibition has exceptions for acts committed in a person’s place of abode or fixed place of business, for official public safety duties, self-defense, making or assisting in a lawful felony arrest, or military personnel.⁷

Given the foregoing, the City Attorney’s Office is recommends removing electroshock devices from the list of prohibited weapons. Any public safety concerns will be addressed using other section of the municipal code and existing state law.

ISSUE:

Amending the TMC to decriminalize the sale, manufacture, purchase, possession, or carrying of any electroshock device under TMC 8.66.080(A)(1) in the City of Tacoma in recognition of the state and federal constitutional protections afforded to certain arms and the relevant case law analysis and discussion pertaining thereto.

ALTERNATIVES:

The City could retain current status and continue to prohibit the possession and use of such items.

FISCAL IMPACT:

There is no fiscal impact.

RECOMMENDATION:

Staff recommends that the City Council pass the proposed TMC amendments.
