Tenants Rights

[ChiQuata Elder, Landlord-Tenant/Crime Free Housing Coordinator, Office of Equity and Human Rights; Debra Casparian, Deputy City Attorney, City Attorney's Office]

At approximately 5:16 p.m., ChiQuata Elder, Landlord-Tenant and Crime Free Housing Coordinator, Office of Equity and Human Rights (OEHR), provided an updated on the proposed Tenant Rights Code and stated since the last Community Vitality and Safety Committee (CVS) meeting on June 28, 2018, a stakeholder group has been convened, the group has held two meetings, and listed whom the stakeholder group consists of. She informed the Council Members that during the meetings the group was able to make progress on the proposed changes to the draft Code, however, since the idea was introduced to the stakeholder group without specific language regarding the addition of Just Cause eviction in the proposed Code, the support of the code changes and concerns were addressed. Ms. Elder concluded by providing a recommendation to extend the emergency 90-day ordinance to the end of the year and reviewed concerns that were brought forward.

Discussion ensued regarding the recommendation to extend the 90-day ordinance; the 60-day notice requirement for certain increases in rent, noting the 10 percent threshold; requirement for landlord to distribute summary of rights; discussion needed on removing the emergency ordinance; if there was a general consensus of support of the draft Tenant Rights Code; moving forward with the proposed changes to the Code without the Just Cause eviction included; an outline of what a study of Just Cause would look like and what the timeframe would be; and the proposed 60-day No Cause eviction notice. Discussion continued on adding the suggestions given at the last CVS meeting to Section 1.95.021, adding prohibition of “source of income” discrimination, an emergency versus non-emergency ordinance, holding a discussion with tenant and landlord communities on items that result in discrimination against marginalized communities, inspection requirements for rental properties, if there were any changes to the emergency 90-day notice to vacate, and removing Just Cause until there is more research and data. Discussion concluded on the idea of creating a Committee, Board, or Commission relating to landlord and renter interactions and long-term policy development, formalizing data on impacts and outcomes, specifics on the Just Cause study, the 20-day notice to terminate tenancy with a month-to-month rental agreement, the landlords' right to not renew a lease, finding ways to effectively ensure that people do not lose their housing based on discriminatory practices, being cautious of infringing on the basic principles of property rights, when the final version of the draft Code will be available and when it would be presented to CVS, and expected outcomes and goals of the two upcoming stakeholder meetings.

Relocation Assistance

[M’Balu Bangura, Risk Analyst/Civil Rights Investigator, Office of Equity and Human Rights]

At approximately 6:07 p.m., M’Balu Bangura, Risk Analyst/Civil Rights Investigator, OEHR, presented on tenant relocation assistance, stating landlords will provide tenant relocation packets before or at the same time a notice to vacate is given to the tenant, tenants would need to apply for tenant relocation assistance in order to determine eligibility, and if eligible, a tenant would receive $3899.69 which would be a 50/50 cost share between the City and the landlords. She continued by stating if a tenant is eligible, the City would notify the landlord and the landlord would provide the City with a cash deposit of half the assistance and the amount given to tenants will increase yearly, based on Consumer Price Index. Ms. Bangura reminded the Council Members that at the last CVS meeting there was a decision to remove the need for a tenant relocation permit and to add the requirement of providing the tenant relocation packets with the requirement to provide the notice to vacate. She concluded by providing the reason behind the increase of the amount a tenant would receive and described the next steps of working on an appeal process, finalizing the methods landlords would use to deliver the relocation assistance packet to tenants, drafting documents that would go into the packets, and creating timelines.

Discussion ensued regarding the portion of the money coming from the City and the recommended amount of money to set aside every year for the tenant relocation assistance, income eligibility for participants, what kind of experience and data collected shows this won't increase rent, if the City has looked into other Cities that have implemented this, and finding data on this implementation that shows the effects on the market. Discussion continued on how many people would be affected by the implementation, data on the amount of displacement evictions, data on demographics, and what data was collected to help create the recommended amount of money to be set aside every year. Discussion concluded on impacts on small landlords and a timeline for provision of draft language and more information.
