SUMMARY:

Finalist candidates for the Community and Economic Development Department (CEDD) Director position will each provide a five-minute presentation to the Economic Development Committee (EDC), followed by ten minutes of questions from EDC members.

BACKGROUND:

The City's current Economic Development Director position is vacant. The City received over 40 applications for the director position (job announcement closed on April 2nd), and an initial screening interview was conducted with nine of the most qualified candidates. After the initial interviews, staff narrowed the candidate pool further and has invited finalists to participate in a final round of interviews. Final interviews will include participation from members of the public, stakeholders, directors, City Councilmembers and the City Manager.
